

Fabled Golden Goose Lands Safely in Wayne, NJ

By Mark Charnet

Monday, November 16, 2009: Missing Golden Goose, famed throughout eternity, has been located in Wayne, NJ at the offices of American Prosperity Group. Life and Leisure recently interviewed Mr. Mark E. Charnet, President and Founder of American Prosperity Group about his good fortune in capturing The Golden Goose that has eluded millions of people for millennia.

L&L: How were you able to lure The Golden Goose onto your property and capture it?

APG: That's very simple you see. I was thinking about my retirement years and contemplated how wonderful it would be to own a Golden Goose that would lay a golden egg every first of the month for the rest of my life and my wife's life. It occurred to me that one golden egg per month would satisfy all of my financial needs, especially with the price of gold lately. I meditated for a long time and decided, "If it is to be, it's up to me, I must possess The Golden Goose.

L&L: So what was your plan to get The Golden Goose?

APG: I felt that a systematic approach of leaving small equal deposits of a material attractive to Golden Geese planted every month on my property would do the trick, even though others thought I was crazy. I didn't know how much material to use, but, determined that the larger the deposit the greater the opportunity, my Golden Goose would appear.

L&L: How long did you plant these deposits and is it too late for the rest of us to do the same thing?

APG: Capturing a healthy Golden Goose requires great discipline, patience, determination and vision. Larger and fatter Geese produce the highest quality eggs, with the greatest egg to cash conversion rate. It's never too late to capture your Golden Goose as there are many Geese looking for a warm home through this winter and beyond. However, the earlier you start your quest the greater the odds of success with Golden Goose Gardening.

L&L: What do you feed your new Golden Goose and if she gets sick what will you do?

APG: It is impossible for my Golden Goose to get sick. Every month she can sit up straight and deliver another Golden Egg if I want or need her to. She is immune from disability, death, short-term illness, lawsuit liability issues, long-term care claims, etc. She never takes a vacation and will be laying gold eggs for me every month for the rest of my life. I wish everyone had their own Golden Goose to count on to provide a first of the month golden egg for themselves, and here is the best part, they can.

L&L: That's an amazing statement Mark; can you back that up and guarantee it?

APG: Actually, everyone already possesses their own Golden Goose in various stages of development from embryonic to fully mature. Golden Geese cannot lay gold eggs until they are fully grown and that may take three or four decades of nurturing and most importantly, feeding. From our personal labor, starting as young adults, we must plant, water and care for the nutrients necessary for the attraction and growth of our own Golden Goose. Every week, every month, and every year we must continually plant, weed, prune, water and monitor the progress of our Golden Goose garden. It is best to do this with the help of a Golden Goose Garden Advisor, (GGGA), who specializes in Golden Goose raising, with a proven track record of success. In addition, the GGGA must also possess expert skill in constructing the nest where the eggs will rest and be hatched every month with further skill to protect, preserve and perpetuate the nest and all of its riches to succeeding generations or all the toil and effort that went into capturing that family's Golden Goose will be lost forever. And Yes, an insurance company can guarantee* the continual flow of monthly golden eggs and the protection necessary to pass the Golden Goose on, free from predators like the I.R.S., (“The Involuntary Reclamation Society”)

L&L: I understand what you are saying, but I am no longer a young adult, with potentially more years behind me than in front of me. Is it too late for me to work with a GGGA to capture a Golden Goose that can lay a guaranteed gold egg for me every month?

APG: It’s never too late to guarantee a gold egg each month from your nest. The only difference will be the size and quality of your egg as compared to the eggs produced by a Golden Goose that has been properly nourished over a longer period of time. If you have a few years or more before you need your Goose to start producing monthly golden eggs, super nutrient packed supplements are available guaranteed* to bolster and fatten the size of your Goose until lifetime golden egg production begins!

L&L: Is there a way to help our children capture their Golden Goose with less effort, years and toil than my generation?

APG: Absolutely! It’s called the Five G’s, The Great Guaranteed* Golden Goose Gambit and is available from your expert Golden Goose Garden Advisor, GGGA. Simply stated, by gift giving into a Great Guaranteed* Golden Goose Gambit Irrevocable Trust, you can accelerate the maturation process of your children’s Golden Goose by years or even decades and free from the reach of the “Involuntary Reclamation Society” as well.

L&L: So in conclusion can you summarize your message for us today, Mark?

APG: We are all born into the money game. Those who master and apply the rules, strategies and techniques of the game earliest and with vigor and focus, profit best. The problem I have found is that people do not know where to go for lessons or instruction on how to win or even play the game properly. There are basically three stages to the money game; accumulation is the first, generating consistent income and cash flow throughout our retirement years is the second and perpetuating our portfolio and net worth for future generations is the third. The Golden Goose is merely a metaphor for the responsibility thrust upon all of us to provide for ourselves and our families to the best of our abilities – always! All APG representatives offer educational classes, seminars and workshops to educate the public with no cost, no commitments or obligations. We never charge fees for consultations and we will design a personalized retirement, estate and portfolio protection plan for all participants of our education programs, also, without charge. Everyone is urged to attend and learn how to capture their own Golden Goose and the lifetime of golden eggs it can produce. Watch this paper for our workshop announcements and be the first to call to reserve your seats or call me anytime if you have a specific question or need for retirement or estate planning.
